Mission

Wikitongues is building a world where language diversity is fundamentally respected.

We safeguard endangered languages, expand access to linguistic resources, and directly support language revitalization.

Our Vision For 2032

Stop language extinction

By 2032 — the end of the International Decade of Indigenous Languages — we will kickstart revitalization projects for half the world's endangered languages, measurably slowing the trend of language extinction.

Three-Year Plan

By 2025, we will have tested the social infrastructure to support language diversity at scale:

- Easy-to-understand resources for documenting any language,
- An accessible language archive,
- A revitalization accelerator.
